TETON HERITAGE BUILDERS

Ellis Nunn & Associates and Teton Heritage Builders have partnered on many projects over the years, developing a smooth working relationship that helps them get the job done effectively and efficiently. For a major remodel in the Butler Creek subdivision, the two firms expanded a 5,000-sq.-ft. home to 8,000 sq. ft. and added handcrafted log and stone features. But the job was more than increasing square footage. The homeowners wanted additional outdoor living space, more room for entertaining and completely upgraded finishes. Ellis Nunn and Teton Heritage Builders fulfilled the homeowners' desires.

LEFT

A dramatic two-story entryway of lodgepole pine and drystack Chief Cliff stone offers a preview of the interior logwork and also acts as a bridge between the master suite, to the left, and the living areas to the right. Large windows provide views of the pond and water features as well as the Bridger-Teton National Forest.

UPPER RIGHT

The entryway leads directly to a garden of wildflowers and grasses and a man-made pond. An extensive deck system around the home creates a sense of the outdoors coming in – exactly what the owners wanted.

LOWER RIGHT

Gold-toned Rustic Oakley stone and granite countertops set off a bar area that opens to the great room, dining room and kitchen. The leaded glass window from a 1600s-era English cathedral is a souvenir the homeowners picked up on an overseas trip.
